ANSWER1. Answer: (c)*Explanation:

- (i) While the government launched a new healthcare scheme to support rural communities, many experts believe its implementation may face logistical challenges.
- (ii) Although the government launched a new healthcare scheme to support rural communities, many experts believe its implementation may face logistical challenges.
- (iii) Incorrect – it does not provide a meaningful connection between both ideas.

2. Answer: (b)Explanation:

- (i) Not only does the festival bring together artists from all over the world, but it also significantly boosts the local economy.
- (ii) Besides boosting the local economy, the festival brings together artists from all over the world.
- (iii) Incorrect – the use of “because” changes the meaning and implies that the economic boost is a direct result of bringing together artists, which may not be accurate.

3. Answer: (b)Explanation:

- (i) Despite presenting an innovative product at the tech summit, the startup failed to attract significant investor attention.
- (iii) Although the startup presented an innovative product at the tech summit, it failed to attract significant investor attention.
- (ii) Incorrect – “because” introduces a causal link which is not supported by the original contrast between innovation and lack of investor attention.

4. Answer: (a)Explanation:

- (i) Even though she had a sprained ankle, the athlete continued the race and won a bronze medal in the competition.
- (ii) Owing to the athlete’s determination, she continued the race with a sprained ankle and won a bronze medal.

(iii) Incorrect – “Since she won a bronze medal...” doesn’t appropriately connect the original cause-effect and contrast.

5. Answer: (a)

Explanation:

(i) Though renewable energy is gaining popularity worldwide, fossil fuels still dominate the global energy market.

(ii) Even though fossil fuels still dominate the global energy market, renewable energy is gaining popularity worldwide.

(iii) Incorrect – “Since fossil fuels dominate...” does not imply contrast but rather cause, which changes the meaning.

6. Answer: (b)

Explanation:

(i) As a result of the company introducing several sustainable practices, its carbon emissions reduced drastically over the year.

(iii) While the company introduced several sustainable practices, its carbon emissions reduced drastically over the year. (Here, “while” is used to indicate that two things happened at the same time)

(ii) Incorrect – “Though” implies contrast, but the two statements are aligned in cause-effect.

7. Answer: (b)

Explanation:

(i) As the pilot detected engine failure, he made an emergency landing and all passengers were safely evacuated.

(ii) Following the detection of engine failure by the pilot, an emergency landing was made and all passengers were evacuated.

(iii) Incorrect – “Even though” implies a contrast, but there is no contradiction in the original statements.

8. Answer: (a)

Explanation:

(i) Since the deadline for applications has been extended, candidates can submit their forms until next Friday.

- (ii) Now that the deadline has been extended, candidates can submit their forms until next Friday.
- (iii) Incorrect – “Despite” introduces a contrast that doesn’t exist between the two statements.

9. Answer: (d)

Explanation:

- (i) Although the students were warned about the plagiarism policy, several still submitted copied content.
- (ii) Even after the warning about plagiarism, several students submitted copied content.
- (iii) Despite the strict plagiarism warning, several students submitted copied content.

10. Answer: (c)

Explanation:

- (i) While the ease of online access and discounts have fueled rising spending, economists are concerned about impulsive buying and its consequences.
 - (ii) Incorrect – this structure implies contrast between consumer spending and economists’ concern, which isn’t logical here. “In spite of” is typically used to show that something happened despite an obstacle. But here, economists’ concern is not opposing the rise in spending — it’s a result of it.
 - (iii) Incorrect – this reverses cause and effect. Economists’ concern didn’t cause the rise in spending; it’s a response.
