

Directions (1-5): In the following questions, a set of sentences is given and are jumbled. You are required to rearrange the given sentences in a proper manner to form a meaningful paragraph. And answer the following questions based on the rearranged sequence.

P. This is the second, and more promising, time chemicals associated with life have been detected in the planet's atmosphere by Nasa's James Webb Space Telescope (JWST).

Q. A Cambridge team studying the atmosphere of a planet called K2-18b has detected signs of molecules which on Earth are only produced by simple organisms.

R. Scientists have found new but tentative evidence that a faraway world orbiting another star may be home to life.

S. K2-18b is approximately two-and-a-half times larger than Earth and lies about 700 trillion miles away—or 124 light years—making it far beyond the reach of human travel within a lifetime.

T. But the team using the JWST, along with independent astronomers, emphasize that additional data is necessary to confirm the findings.
