ANSWER*1. Answer*D*Solution

The D part has an error. The verb "become" should be in its gerund form, "becoming," because it follows the preposition "after." The gerund form is required to maintain grammatical correctness when a verb follows a preposition like "after."

2. Answer*A*Solution

The A part has an error. The verb "have" is incorrect because the sentence is in the past tense. The correct past tense form of the verb is "had."

3. Answer*D*Solution

The D part has an error. The word "then" refers to time, while "than" is used in comparisons. In this context, the comparison is between her salary/ESOPs and retiral benefits, so "other than" is correct.

4. Answer*D*Solution

The D part has an error. "Theirs" is a possessive pronoun, meaning something belongs to "them." In this context, you need the contraction "there's," which is short for "there is." The sentence is stating that there is no reason for concern, so the contraction "there's" is appropriate.

5. Answer*A*Solution

The A part has an error. The correct phrase should be "the last" instead of just "last." The definite article "the" is necessary to specify that Andy Roddick was the final person in a particular category (the last American man to win a Grand Slam singles title).

6. Answer*D*Solution

The D part has an error. The word "whether" typically pairs with "or" to indicate a choice between two options. Therefore, "or" should replace "and" in this sentence to maintain parallel structure and clarity.

7. Answer*E*Solution

The above sentence is free from error.

8. Answer*B*Solution

The B part has an error. The word "for" is incorrect in this context because the sentence is referring to a time period starting from when Federer, Nadal, and Djokovic began dominating tennis. The word "since" is appropriate as it marks the starting point of their emergence on the tennis stage.

9. Answer

E

Solution

The above sentence is free from error.

10. Answer

D

Solution

The D part has an error. The verb form "brushing" is incorrect because the sentence is in the passive voice, indicating that these players were acted upon by the Big 3. The correct past participle form "brushed" should be used to maintain proper passive voice construction.
